

The most important employee e-learning courses for law firms

Data protection, compliance and cybersecurity have the highest priority, especially for confidentiality officers in the legal profession, in tax consultancy or in auditing.

A large amount of strictly confidential data and data requiring special protection is handled on a daily basis. If this data falls into the wrong hands due to careless handling or a cyber attack, this can have serious consequences. From reputational damage to high fines to long prison sentences. Explanatory videos and expert interviews create sustainable data protection awareness among your employees.
